Cookies

A cookie is a piece of data stored on the visitor's hard drive that stores information about that visitor's activity on our website. Once the visitor closes their browser, the cookie session terminates. Cookies are used to enable us to track and target the progress of our visitors and allow us to use this information to enhance the design of our site.

Information Collected

The data collected through the use of the online application is only that which has been defined by the customer. No other data is collected or stored by the application. Some data is collected and tracked using session cookies. These are pieces of data stored on the server and deleted when the browser is closed or the user logs out of the system.

Disclosure of Information

SolidSoftware(UK) will never disclose any data collected by the online application to any other person or party, except as directed in writing by the customer.

Legal Disclaimer

Though every effort is made to preserve your privacy, SolidSoftware(UK) may need to disclose personal information when required to by law. If it is deemed necessary that such action needs to be taken, SolidSoftware(UK) will comply with judicial proceedings should a court order or legal process be served on SolidSoftware(UK).

Maintenance of Information

The data you provide which is collected by the online application is saved and may be stored on one or more databases directly or indirectly maintained by SolidSoftware(UK). The ISP employs industry standard security measures to protect the confidentiality of the information. Although SolidSoftware(UK) cannot guarantee that any loss, misuse or alteration of data will not occur; every effort is made to prevent such occurrences.

Your Responsibility

You are responsible for the security of your application login details and passwords. Make sure you keep them in a safe place and do not share it with others.

Always remember to log out after your session ends, to ensure that others cannot access your information. You should take this precaution even if you are not using a public computer, such as at a library or Internet café, but even when using your private computer in your home.
